ELECTS ITS OFFICERS.

Father Mathew Society chooses Officers and Holds a Pleasant Meeting.
Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the meeting of Father Mathew Total Abstinence society was well attended. Father Gleason, a fellow student of Father Corbett, addressed the assembly. He dwelt upon the fact that the evil consequences of a drunken father do not always end with his death, but that the son is frequently crushed under the inherited evil habit. He recounted several disastrous scenes made horrible even to think of by the effects of drunkenness.

The society elected the following officers for the ensuing six months: Hon. C. P. Magnin, president; James Elliot, vice president; Jacob Laux, secretary; Aug. Murphy, Jr., financial secretary; sergeant-at-arms, John Cassidy; executive committee, E. Gillespie, Daniel Cummings and James Higgins.

Wheat Higher Today and Trading is Very Fair All Around.

Back at Chicago; Illinois Crop Visible; Many Monday Notes.

Wheat was very strong today and advanced here 1/2 cents during the day. At the opening the cables and most of the advices from the outside were of a bearish tendency, and the first sale was 1/2 below last night. There were more afterwards so low, for the advance set in almost at once and continued with hardly a check up to the close. The advance was generally attributed to buying by Hutchinson. This put up Chicago and all other markets followed suit. In the advance Duluth proved to be the rest, relatively, the premium of May wheat over Chicago rising from 1 to 1 1/2, while May No. 1 northern here, which closed yesterday, was the same as May northern at Minneapolis closed today, 1/2 above the Minneapolis price. Cash wheat was strong and in demand. No. 1 hard closed at $1 1/4, and No. 1 northern at 78. No. 1 northern on track sold at 79 1/2 and 80, and No. 2 northern on track at 77 1/2. May wheat opened at $1 1/4, sold up to $1 1/2 in the first half hour, then to $2, dropped back 1/4, recovered and held steady for some time, when it jumped to $2 1/2, advanced to $2 1/2, and closed at that bid. May No. 1 northern opened at 79 1/2, nominal, sold first at 79 1/2, then at 80 1/2, closed at 80 1/2. June wheat opened at $2 1/2, advanced to $2 1/2, July opened at $1 and closed at $1 1/4. May corn closed at 31.

The Daily Statement.

PEOPLE'S SAVINGS BANK.

A Much-Needed Institution to be Started by Duluth People.

In Operation in a Few Weeks; Its Officers and Trustees.

One of the urgent needs of Duluth for years has been a savings bank, some institution where the funds of the laboring people and that great class whose income does not allow them to use the ordinary class of banks, be placed and left. That such an institution is about to be organized The Herald shows today. It will be backed by men whose names are a guarantee of careful and conservative management and the active head will be a young, energetic and careful man who has been in Duluth many years and who has won the esteem of all who have had business contact with him. The bank will open in a few weeks, as soon as matters of detail can be settled and a location fixed upon.

C. K. Normandy, who is now in New York, where he is looking up matters in connection with saving institutions, will organize and manage the institution under the laws of the state, while the board of trustees will consist of the following well-known Duluthians: A. W. Bradley, R. S. Minger, C. K. Normandy, Wm. McKinley, Z. D. Scott, T. T. Hudson, H. M. Myers, and one other, whose name cannot yet be given. All these directors are pledged to file a bond in the penal sum of $500 for the faithful performance of their duties. The bank is to be called the People's Savings Bank of Duluth, and it will receive deposits from a dime up. Interest will be paid on monthly balances, and it is expected that the bank will do fully as well as like institutions of St. Paul and Minneapolis, which pay a 3 and 3/4 percent to their depositors.

The state laws of Minnesota are such that there is little chance for failure in such an institution, and those at present in the state working under the new laws are doing well for the depositors. Wages are much higher in Duluth than in many cities where savings banks have proved most successful, and it is thought that there will be very large deposits in the Duluth bank.

WEST END.

Need of a New Public Dock: News of the Day.

A prominent West Superior street merchant said last night that something which the West End badly needs is a dock near Twentieth avenue. This is surely so. Ferry boats will be a boon to land. Many people prefer to ride on the boats because it is cheaper and there will undoubtedly be a large number of shipyard men who will want to live on this side if transportation rates can be made small enough and that can be done only by the ferries. Besides these there will probably be a large number of other people engaged in other kinds of employment who will want to live on this side of the bay. Not only is it needed for these things but many excursion parties up the bay and around the lake will be held during the summer and it would be a great convenience to these people as there is no suitable dock nearer than the elevators. The smaller vessels of the lake could get up to this dock and the West End merchants could get their goods delivered nearer their doors. It would most surely pay merchants to co-operate in this matter and have a good, substantial dock built here.

The dance tonight at Normanna hall promises to be a great event. Only those with invitations will be admitted. E. E. Benson is the committee on arrangements. Houses in Heine street and on the corner of Main and Second streets are being used as a ball room. There is not a single house in the city that is not a great success.

John Nelson's Return. Back to the Scene of a Terrible Murder at West Superior. Readers of The Herald will remember a special dispatch in this paper a few days ago, copied by the way, by its contemporaries, regarding the capture of a supposed murderer at La Prairie. The following now comes from Sheriff Wickstrom returned from La Prairie, Minn., today with John Nelson, who was arrested there. Nelson, who was a West End, and fears of Nelson's safety are entertained.

The crime for which Nelson is wanted was committed under circumstances that leave no room for doubt as to his guilt. John Nelson, Nels Carlson and August Nelson were laborers, who came from the old country at the same time and worked and lived together. They worked for the city and made a little cash, the first house in West Superior. Carlson and John Nelson were together on the night of Nov. 1, and when August Nelson tried to get into the shack the door was locked. He could find neither Carlson nor Nelson, and on Saturday he was again unsuccessful in trying to get into the shack.

He then forced open the door, and the fearful sight met his eyes. In the middle of the room, on the floor, lay the lifeless form of Carlson, his blood forming a great black pool on the floor and his head and body fearfully gashed. The head of the murdered man was almost severed from his body by an oblique stroke from a broad-axe, and a second blow cut into the skull and left the head open to the eyes, exposing the brain. A search revealed the instruments of death, and the crime was fastened on Nelson, for he had disappeared and had probably spent the winter in the lumber camps of northern Minnesota.

A Recent Murder. J. M. Binningley, steward in charge of the Duluth & Iron Range business car, was at Two Harbors yesterday evening, when he received notification that a train coming down here from Two Harbors had Mr. Binningley mounted a track bicycle, set the pedals in motion and made the run of twenty-seven miles in two hours and ten minutes, one of the best long-distance records ever made. During the trip he jumped the track, and went into the ditch twice, but neither he nor the machine was injured in the least. He stands ready to beat the time if anyone else accepts him.

MARINE NEWS.

The Nyack Independent's General Freight: Other Notes.

In confirmation of a telegram to The Herald a day or two ago, the following is found in a Buffalo exchange: The staunch propeller Nyack is not to leave for the Superior route after all. She is being fitted out in elegant style as a passenger boat and will make the season between Buffalo and Duluth stopping at intermediate ports, leaving every other week and calling at Northern Steamship master of the Avon, has been returned to his old boat, the Nyack, and Capt. Thomas Judge, formerly mate of the Nyack, will sail the Avon. The Nyack will not be ready to sail till some time in May.

George McPherson, formerly captain of the Osifrage at this port, is now commanding the ferry steamer J. C. Clark between Port Huron and Sarnia.

William McIntyre returned last night from Port Sarnia, where he has been spending the winter. He will resume his old position with the Northern Steamship company.

Agent Harry Hurden will be here by the first of next week and the Healy line shipments will commence to move from the hour of his arrival.

The Marine News of Detroit has been swallowed by The Seaboard, an old established marine paper, which successfully performs the dual feat of giving the shipping news and the shipping news. Next week will see an arrival from the lower lake. This assertion is made with full knowledge that the ice is still two feet thick in that thoroughfare.

The Aur broke her wheel at West Goshogone and will have to get a new one on her return to Buffalo.

Evening Vessels. Vessels were employed to valued last year at $2,000,000 and their production employment to 28,000 men and 1700 women for one year, caused a consumption of 2,000,000 tons of coal and 20,000 tons of iron ore, 45,000 tons of pig iron, 15,000 tons of pig tin, 3000 tons of lead, 500 tons of tin, 100 tons of zinc, 100 tons of sulphuric acid and 30,000 tons of box lumber.

The total number of people employed by the industry and its adjuncts is about 50,000. Now such an army of workers means perhaps 250,000 people, or over 10 percent of the total population of the country, thus increasing the demand by that much. The iron and steel market, for over a million tons more of Lake Superior ore will be an event worth trying for.

There will be fully 1,000,000 tons of ore shipped from Two Harbors this year, and by Mr. Glynn, chairman of the C. C. Washburn iron company will send out 700,000 tons of iron ore, 45,000 tons of pig iron, 15,000 tons of pig tin, 3000 tons of lead, 500 tons of tin, 100 tons of zinc, 100 tons of sulphuric acid and 30,000 tons of box lumber.

The outlook in the iron market is good. Already there seems to be a surplus of the sale of 250,000 tons of steel rails, while trade is very favorable for the opening of navigation on the 25th inst. Unless we have an unusually cold winter, the iron market will be a vast quantity of iron entering every branch of industry that has until recently been wood or other material.

STILL THE C. C. WASHBURN.

Deal for the C. C. Washburn Mills Not by Any Means Over.

Senator Washburn arrived in Minneapolis yesterday. When asked if his presence, accompanied as he was part of the way by Mr. Glynn, chairman of the English directors of the Pittsburgh-Washburn company, was to obtain control of the C. C. Washburn mills for the English syndicate, he tactfully acknowledged that there was foundation for the rumor. Said he:

"My presence was necessary to adjust some of details in connection with the deal. The company will have four steamships of its own in the trade in a few months and will be able to handle its ore at a reduced price.

"But don't your business also embrace a transfer of the C. C. Washburn plant to the English syndicate?"

"No, sir; none of the directors of the English syndicate, with the exception of Mr. Glynn, are here."

"The transfer, then, has been talked over?"

"Oh, yes, it has been talked over. It is not necessary to talk of such matters in the board room. Such deals may be talked of to equal advantage in privacy. But negotiations have reached the talking stage."

WHAT TIN PLATE WILL DO.

A Leading Iron and Steel Maker Talks of Tin and Trade.

Negotiations Still Pending for the C. C. Washburn Mills.

Perhaps no man in the country is better fitted to talk on iron and steel than Mr. Jay C. Morse of Chicago. Mr. Morse is president of the Illinois Steel company, the largest producer of iron and steel firms in the United States, and is as well president of the Minnesota Iron company of this country, the greatest producer of Bessemer ore in the Union.

This morning he passed through the city on his way north to the mines of the Iron company.

"Just as I said, he was more interested in the tin plate industry than anything else. Few people have any idea how much the home manufacture of tin plate will do for this country. You must remember in the past place that in the industry 50 percent is labor and 50 percent is tin. The aggregate consumption of all classes of tin plate in the United States is not far from 50,000 tons, of which every ton is imported from Great Britain. These importations were valued last year at $2,000,000 and their production employment to 28,000 men and 1700 women for one year, caused a consumption of 2,000,000 tons of coal and 20,000 tons of iron ore, 45,000 tons of pig iron, 15,000 tons of pig tin, 3000 tons of lead, 500 tons of tin, 100 tons of zinc, 100 tons of sulphuric acid and 30,000 tons of box lumber.

A PETRIFIED PRIEST.

Discover the Body of a Missionary Killed in the Seventeenth Century.

BOONVILLE, Cal., April 11.—While breaking new ground for a farm on the left bank of the Arkansas half a mile from this place the laborers exhumed yesterday the petrified body of a man, clothed in the habit of a Roman Catholic priest.

The dress and shoes and hose had also become stone, and the figure might have passed for the cunning handwork of some great master of sculpture. The two hands were clasped about an ivory crucifix, which hung from a rosary suspended about the neck, while the head of an arrow still protruding from the breast told the story of how the worthy father met his death; and the fact, so plain to be seen, that the body was buried without a coffin, and the grave unmarked by the smallest token, showed that he and his brethren or some faithful friend from the Indians when he was killed.

The petrified body was removed to the Church of the Annunciation, where it is now being visited by crowds from all over the county, and whence it will be taken to the city for a more permanent place of deposit. The body is that of a young man of refined features, and the hands are of elegant proportions. Those who profess to know declare that his dress is of a fashion worn in the latter part of the seventeenth century, at which time, as is well known, devoted for the purpose of converting the Indians.

These importations were valued last year at $2,000,000 and their production employment to 28,000 men and 1700 women for one year, caused a consumption of 2,000,000 tons of coal and 20,000 tons of iron ore, 45,000 tons of pig iron, 15,000 tons of pig tin, 3000 tons of lead, 500 tons of tin, 100 tons of zinc, 100 tons of sulphuric acid and 30,000 tons of box lumber.

The total number of people employed by the industry and its adjuncts is about 50,000. Now such an army of workers means perhaps 250,000 people, or over 10 percent of the total population of the country, thus increasing the demand by that much. The iron and steel market, for over a million tons more of Lake Superior ore will be an event worth trying for.

There will be fully 1,000,000 tons of ore shipped from Two Harbors this year, and by Mr. Glynn, chairman of the C. C. Washburn iron company will send out 700,000 tons of iron ore, 45,000 tons of pig iron, 15,000 tons of pig tin, 3000 tons of lead, 500 tons of tin, 100 tons of zinc, 100 tons of sulphuric acid and 30,000 tons of box lumber.

The outlook in the iron market is good. Already there seems to be a surplus of the sale of 250,000 tons of steel rails, while trade is very favorable for the opening of navigation on the 25th inst. Unless we have an unusually cold winter, the iron market will be a vast quantity of iron entering every branch of industry that has until recently been wood or other material.

STILL THE C. C. WASHBURN.

Deal for the C. C. Washburn Mills Not by Any Means Over.

Senator Washburn arrived in Minneapolis yesterday. When asked if his presence, accompanied as he was part of the way by Mr. Glynn, chairman of the English directors of the Pittsburgh-Washburn company, was to obtain control of the C. C. Washburn mills for the English syndicate, he tactfully acknowledged that there was foundation for the rumor. Said he:

"My presence was necessary to adjust some of details in connection with the deal. The company will have four steamships of its own in the trade in a few months and will be able to handle its ore at a reduced price.

ANOTHER ENGLISH SUIT.

Another Warning to American Girls After Foreign Titles.

Pioneers Excuse; Hangman's Investments; Davis' Millions.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Col. Hughes Hallett of London, until recently a member of the house of commons would find a decidedly unhealthy climate in certain parts of this city, were he to put in an appearance just at the present time.

Col. Hallett is at present the husband of a Philadelphia lady, formerly known as Emily Von Schumann, and according to London advice he has applied for a divorce, alleging misconduct with John Chaudes, a noted English lawyer.

According to inspired advice Hallett, by employing his butler as a spy, secured proofs of his wife's infidelity, and made her so unpleasant for her that she packed up and left for Monte Carlo, where, according to the same advice, she is supporting her lover.

Nobody who knew Emily Von Schumann in Chicago a decade ago, when she was the head and front of upper ten society, believes this story; and even were they inclined to give it credence they would be disposed to declare in the same breath that Hallett is simply being paid in his own coin.

He is what is known in general parlance as a bad egg. Through a hubbub he created recently, which came within an ace of necessitating his resignation as a member of the commons, his wife stuck to him with a determination that commanded the admiration of her friends and his foes.

In her younger days Mrs. Hallett was one of the belles of the Quaker city, and although she had become somewhat passe before she finally decided to embark on a matrimonial voyage, she was nevertheless first and foremost in every public-spirited enterprise.

She has been the lever in raising her husband from a plane of comparative obscurity to one of so far as his own rakish propensities would permit—reputation and influence, and she has plenty of friends in this city who stand ready to render her all the material and moral aid that she may desire in the prospective fight in the courts.

HE DIED INSOLVENT.

"Jack Ketch," English's Public Hangman, Made Poor Investments.

LONDON, April 12.—Much to the surprise of those who had imagined that he had amassed a good-sized competency, it has been developed that the late William Marwood, alias "Jack Ketch," the public hangman, died insolvent. His earnings as national executioner were large, but he had a mania for investing in farms and the agricultural depression made these speculations turn out unfortunately.

Among the documents he left behind him were several relating to the execution of the Phoenix Park assassins. Marwood claimed that he was entitled to $250 for this job, whereas he was paid but $125. He had considerable correspondence with the home office on the question, but never succeeded in getting what he considered were his just dues for stretching the necks of the murderers of Lord Harrington.

LIFE IN LEIPZIG.

Delightful City; Splendid Concerts and Wretched Opera.

LEIPZIG, April 12.—While living in this interesting, dingy city, of how many persons is one reminded who have joined that choir invisible of those immortal dead who live again in minds made better by their presence. A certain intangible, subtle charm seems to fasten itself upon all people who spend any length of time in Leipzig; without knowing why one is irresistibly inclined to linger here, instead of other cities offer more pronounced attractions. I present, especially, would one find it difficult to go elsewhere. The music season is rapidly waning, and in a short time the Gewandhaus concerts will have closed. As if loth to part with that which has afforded happiness to thousands of people, all musicians seem quickened into unusual activity, and instead of the indifference and lassitude which so often accompany such a time, we are experiencing what seems to us a triumphal scene. New works of modern composers are being performed and it does one good to hear the hearty applause and to see the laurel wreaths which mark such occasions.

Early in February, Carl Reinecke's "Von der Wiege zum Grab" was given for the first time. The great hall of the Gewandhaus was thronged with eager listeners, and many were the cheers which greeted the kind old man at the termination of his series of orchestral pictures, which portrayed with such pathos and beauty the stage between the cradle and the grave. This which is not likely soon to escape our memory. Two new works of Edward Grieg and Moritz Moszkowski were performed, each under the direction of the composer. The scenes from a Bjornson's unfinished drama, "Olaf Trygvason," which Grieg has arranged so wonderfully for solo, chorus and orchestra, filled the audience with an excitement peculiar as the composition itself.

For the time it seemed as if we belonged to the eleventh century; the trials of Norway and Sweden became those of the Norsemen, and to us, as to them, Odin seemed a mighty god. Grieg's style of writing is as unlike Wagner as was Wagner unlike Mozart; like a single messenger from a great race of the past comes he to us with his harp, money so pregnant with originality. And ever since the morning of the concert have I been wondering what it was in Moszkowski's new suite for orchestra which sent us all home in good cheer.

One of the pleasantest features of visit in Leipzig is a service of song which is held for half an hour each Saturday noon in the old Thomas church, where Sebastian Bach was so long organist. About forty boys constitute the choir, and their voices possess a persuasive beauty which is certainly rare in northern Germany. Beautiful psalms from Brahms and other composers are sung, with either organ or orchestral accompaniment, and sometimes with both. No minister is seen or no prayer is spoken, but the church is full, and to most persons present it is a time of word-led the orthodox to despise the liberal, or the liberal to scorn the orthodox. Through the music a sublime message of peace seems borne to all hearts, and we return to our homes with a deeper realization that we are all a part of an eternal law and love; that each day draws us into a closer communion with that Divine Power of which we are all an emanation, and in all is one.

The Pioneers' Excursion.
Boston, April 12.—An excursion party, composed in the main of members of the New England Society of Pioneers and their families left here today en route for California. At Chicago the strength of the party will be considerably augmented. The destination is California, where the excursionists will be the guests of Mrs. Fred Lewis of the California Society of Pioneers, and who was one of the little Red sisters who survived the ill-fated Donner party.

Setting the Millionaire's Estate.

BUTTE, Mont., April 12.—In the district court today a hearing was commenced on the petition for letters of administration on the estate of Andrew J. Davis, the millionaire banker, who died intestate about six months ago. The petition was filed by Henry A. Root of New York, and John G. Davis of this city. Root, who is a nephew, claims one-third of the estate, which is estimated at $7,000,000. A careful search has so far failed to bring any will to light. Davis has relations in New York, Chicago and this city.

But He Killed the Grizzly.

New York Sun: "Did I ever see a grizzly?" repeated the man in the bear-skin overcoat. "Well, I should remark! Yes, sir, and killed one, too. What do you think of those fur claws?"

"And he pulled out and passed around inspection several claws which gave one the shivers with their length and sharpness."

"I had a sawmill out in Nevada," continued the man after the claws had been gathered in, "and one day when I was all alone a bumping big grizzly came down out of a gulch, entered the mill, and drove me out. He didn't seem very ferocious, but as soon as he had chased me out he began rolling and playing in a pile of sawdust. His antics were laughable and I was plain that he was almost tickled to death. He staid around for an hour or two and then walked off. Next day, at about the same hour, he came again, and again he played in the sawdust, like a pup rolling on the grass."

"But why didn't you shoot him?" asked one of the group.

"Because my man had gone off to get a revolver. You might as well shot at him with a popgun. I determined to do for him, however, and on the morning of the third day I planted twenty pounds of powder in the center of that sawdust pile and laid a train around behind the mill. At noon I shut down and watched him in sight. He came right along as if he had the best right in the world to be there, and without looking around for me, he made for the sawdust and began to enjoy himself. I let go for him with the train and took to my heels. There was a flash, and a crash, and a smash, and I looked back to find everything gone and the heavens showering down the blood and hair of the grizzly. I had blown him up, but the mill went too."

"But where was the sawdust?"

"And it didn't occur to you that in blowing up the bear you would—"

"Also blow up the mill? No, it did not. It was an error of judgment on my part, and that accounts for my being dead and that accounts for the necessity of traveling second class. Gentlemen, be warned by my sad fate. If you ever want to blow up a bear lead him off to some desolate spot, where no harm can come of it, and five pounds of powder will blow him as high as ten."

SEVERAL NEW COSTUMES.

Seated in a ladies' lunch room the listener to a scrap of conversation from the next table. Said one lady, evidently a suburbanite, to her New York friend, "When Edith comes to town, next month, will you take her to Redfern's some day? She has never been, and has had but few opportunities of seeing by hearsay an idea of the noted establishment opposite Madison Square, and I wondered how many of them would like to glance through another's eyes at the big house, with its courteous proprietress, its pretty well-bred corps of attendants all in lovely gowns, who move and speak with quiet English grace; and the spacious parlors extending through the block and filled with such an assortment of beautiful gowns and coats as would make covetous the most angelic disposition ever created. Let us look in there this morning and decide which is the most adorable of their recent designs.

Well, it is no easy matter to make a selection, but what do you say to this very unique spring gown of Dalila cloth, whose front has an application of striped cloth in Dalila and faintest straw color, outlined by a point of the pleated waist into a buckle and thence passing to the back, make a sash drapery. The sketch explains better than words the fashioning of bodices and sleeves. After the gown the wrap, and here we have it in the shape of the brown panel upon the right up, to match the white lined cuffs and vest, the latter of which confines the snowy skirt front from the bust line to the bottom of the bodice.

The World's Fair of 1892

Will no doubt be held in Chicago at the appointed time, for that energetic metropolis and her bustling citizens have never yet "got left," and from all points in the Northwest, "The Burlington" will be the people's favorite line, with its fast time, smooth track, and palatial vestibuled trains. But if anything should happen to change the location, "The Burlington" will still be the route, for it is as direct a line as any for Eastern points, and if the fair should be located anywhere in the central portion of the continent, no prominent city can be named which the Burlington tracks do not reach. For maps, tickets, time tables, and any information respecting the ticket agents of "The Burlington" or connecting lines, or write to W. J. G. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. & N. R. ANOTHER DAY FOR LONGS.

Shorts are Trounced in Wheat.

Till the Fun is all Gone.

Then Hutch Sells to Hold the Market; Other News Notes.

The market was quite similar to that of Saturday, active and strong with a nervous feeling and more or less excitement all the time. Prices opened higher here for May, but higher elsewhere, and there was an immediate advance of 2 here, while others advanced 2 1/2.

The ruling prices all day were 1 to 2 1/2 above Saturday's close. Trading was not so large as on Saturday, which was partially owing to the small number of sellers and partially to an indisposition on the part of many to trade.

The range of prices was largely based on that of Chicago, without the heavy fluctuations and wide changes in prices of that market, which was a very wild one for the first part of the morning and was only relieved by the putting out by Hutchinson of a large line. That market remained all day, however, in a strained and panicky condition, with June wheat holding up near May. July was subject to frequent changes and ruled 3/16 under May. Our June was neglected, while July here was strong at 2 1/2, 2 1/2 over May. The close was 1 1/2 over Saturday.

Cash wheat was dull. No. 1 hard closed at 80 1/2. No. 1 northern in store sold at 83 and closed at 84. No. 2 northern closed at 83. May wheat, opened at 80, with the next sale at 87 1/2, advanced to 88, dropped back to 8, advanced again to 88 1/2, declined at 87, closed at 87 1/2. Sellers. While May was at 87, a 1000 bu lot sold at 87. May No. 1 northern opened at 84 1/2, with the only sales at 85 1/2 and 86, and closed at 85 1/2. Sellers. June wheat was neglected. It closed at 80 nominal. July opened at 82 1/2, nominal, sold up to 90 1/2, and closed at 90 1/2. Sellers. September sold at 87 1/2, closed at 87. Near the close New York was nearly as panicky as Chicago had been earlier in the day. The sales there amounted to 35,000,000 bushels for the day.
